

CEREMONY

This is a sample script, feel free to ad lib as much or as little as you want

Opening

Officiant: Good morning and welcome. Tess and Colin are so glad to have you here on this beautiful day—before we begin I'd like to ask you all to make sure your devices are on silent but feel free to use them during the ceremony and make sure to tag any pictures on social media as #weddinglarp

Address

Officiant: Marriage. Marriage is what brings us together today. Marriage, that blessed « NOUN », is a dream within a dream. The dream of « NOUN » wrapped within the greater dream of everlasting « NOUN ».

Marriage is perhaps the greatest and most challenging « NOUN » of all human « NOUN ». As good as I may be... and believe me, I am very good... No « NOUN » can create your marriage; only you can do that — through « NOUN » and « NOUN »; through « NOUN » and « NOUN »; through « NOUN » and « NOUN » in each other. By « VERB » through the « NOUN » and « NOUN ».

First Readings

Officiant: And now Tess has asked 2 of her friends to do readings.

Conclusion of the Address

Officiant: Enfolded in « NOUN », inhabited by « NOUN », bathed in the infinite « NOUN » of « NOUN » that is love, may you always be « VERB » with it and « VERB » by it. May every « NOUN » you have for your love be fulfilled, and may you be given the « NOUN » with which to clearly « VERB » one another, the « NOUN » with which to « VERB » one another most genuinely, and the endless « NOUN » of spirit with which to « VERB » one another's soul and « ADVERB » keep the promises you make here today.

Vows and Expression of Intent

Officiant: Do you Colin Arbuthnot Fahrion, take Tess Aquarium, to be your beloved spouse, knowing in your heart that you will be a faithful friend, and a loving companion? On this special day, in the presence of family and friends as witnesses, do you give your vow that you will always be with Tess and support her, in times of sickness and in times of health, in times of joy and in times of sorrow? Do you promise to love her completely, to console and comfort her during difficult times, to laugh with her and to grieve with her, to share with her life's simplest but most enduring pleasures, to be truthful and honest with her, and to cherish her, for as long as you both shall live?

Colin: I do.

Officiant: Do you Tess Aquarium, take Colin Arbuthnot Fahrion, to be your beloved spouse, knowing in your heart that you will be a faithful friend, and a loving companion? On this special day, in the presence of family and friends as witnesses, do you give your sacred vow that you will always be with Colin and support him, in times of sickness and in times of health, in times of joy and in times of sorrow? Do you promise to love him completely, to console and comfort him during difficult times, to laugh with him and to grieve with him, to share with him life's simplest but most enduring pleasures, to be truthful and honest with him, and to cherish him, for as long as you both shall live?

Tess: I do.

Ceremony of the Rings

Officiant: May I have the rings. Colin and Tess's rings are a _____ sign of the bond of love which _____ their _____. May they serve as a seal of the vows Colin and Tess have made to one another. Tess, please repeat after me:

I, Tess take you, Colin, to be my lawfully wedded husband, my constant friend and my faithful partner in crime. In the presence of our family and friends, I offer you my solemn vow to be your faithful partner in sickness and in health, in joy as well as in sorrow, and in art projects good, bad, and ridiculous.

Officiant: Colin please repeat after me:
